Livermore energy law on agenda

LIVERMORE — The hotly-contested energy conservation ordinance, which would require bringing homes up to R-19 insulation standards prior to sale, will be up for adoption at the city council meeting Monday.

Factions favoring and opposing the ordinance are expected to turn out for the 8 p.m. meeting in Municipal Court chambers.

Energy Conservation Committee members met last week to discuss the amended ordinance, which, if approved, would allow a licensed real estate broker, licensed contractor or the seller's attorney to file a certification of compliance with the city building inspector in lieu of an inspection.

The chief concern of the Conservation Committee is that the designated persons vouching for the insulation of a home are not qualified in the field of insulation. The committee felt such a certification on insulation should come from a person who is fully qualified to know the type of insulation in the house and to measure the depth to determine if it meets R-19 standards.

Pleasanton fire call

A fire apparently started by smoldering cigarettes caused an estimated $20,000 damage to Sherman and Rosemary Coffin's house at 6248 Inglewood Court in Pleasanton Friday afternoon. A fire department spokesman said Rosemary Coffin was asleep when rustling noises awakened her to the fire. Ten firefighters and three engines responded and extinguished the blaze in about 30 minutes. One fireman sustained minor facial burns. The damage was heaviest in the kitchen, family room, living room and formal dining room. The blaze started in a trash can under the kitchen sink, apparently caused by smoldering cigerettes, the fire department spokesman said.

Rapid growth in SR Valley poses puzzle

San Ramon Valley's rapid growth rate has had varying effects on law enforcement agencies, schools, special districts and Contra Costa county's department of Public Works.

During their last fiscal year, the Valley Community Services District (VCSD) had to add four firefighters and two parks and recreation employes to their personnel, according to VCSD General Manager Paul Ryan.

"This was primarily due to the increase in population in the San Ramon area under our jurisdiction," Ryan added.

VCSD provides fire protection, water, sewer, parks and recreation services to Dublin and south San Ramon.

Ryan said VCSD had felt the impact of the San Ramon population increase most during the past five years.

Contra Costa county census figures in 1970 showed a population of 4,884 in the area from Crow Canyon Road south to the Alameda County line, according to a spokesman in the planning department. The last census figures, taken in 1975, showed the same area to have a population of 12,782. No projection figures for 1977 were available, according to the spokesman.

Ryan said the Dublin area had not had too much more growth recently.

Mark Kermit, deputy public works director for Contra Costa county, said the housing boom had not seriously affected the county traffic division. He attributed this to the fact the traffic division was following the county general plan.

He contended the San Ramon Valley zoning had already been laid out in a basic network allowing for major arterial streets.

Kermit said he hoped citizens would continue to cooperate and let the county know about trouble spots where more traffic control devices and systems might be needed.

"We welcome homeowners requests. It gives us a chance to investigate problem areas and work toward a solution."

Long range plans for the traffic division include four-laning San Ramon Boulevard and putting in a freeway interchange at Bollinger Canyon Road, according to Kermit.

"That Bollinger Canyon Road interchange has been planned since Interstate-680 was put in," Kermit reported.

He said the county also hoped to get a bus system running throughout San Ramon Valley someday.

The Alameda County Sheriff's Department said no significant impact had been felt by the population increase in his area.

SR teachers call special union meet

With no apparent movement in contract mediation sessions through Friday, San Ramon district teachers have scheduled a general meeting for Wednesday afternoon at Monte Vista High School in Alamo, possibly to discuss concerted activities or a walkout.

Negotiations committee leader Mike Shackelford said the code of silence, mutually agreed upon by teachers and administration during mediation, would be lifted at that time.

Another mediation session is scheduled Tuesday at district offices in Danville.

Though it could not be verified because of the no-talk stance, teachers and administration are believed to be substantially apart on the key issues of salary, benefits, binding arbitration and agency shop.

San Ramon is one of the Valley districts whose teachers are being assisted by Uniserv. The group, which also includes teachers in the Pleasanton, Amador and Murray districts, has hired Jacques Bernier to organize teachers and assist in negotiations.

Bernier has been present at previous mediation sessions and Shackelford said he will be on the podium at Wednesday's meeting at Monte Vista High School. The meet commences at 3:45 p.m.

The negotiations committee of San Ramon Valley Educators Association (SRVEA) and district administration, as represented by legal counsel Keith Breon, Superintendent Allan Petersdorf, and assistants Orrin Batchelor and William Crozier, have been in negotiations since early in the year. There have been at least six mediation sessions, the next step after an impasse is declared in negotiations.

Labs, UC relationships subject of new hearings

The committee appointed by University of California President David Saxon to examine the relationship between UC and the two nuclear weapons research laboratories it operates for the federal government will hold a public hearing in San Francisco Oct. 5.

The eight-member committee, chaired by UC Executive Vice Chancellor William P. Gerberding of UCLA, is expected to advise Saxon before year's nd "whether the relationship between the University and the labs should be continued, modified, or terminated in whole or in part."

UC operates the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory and the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in New Mexico for the federal Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA).

A five-year agreement to continue the operating relationship was recently signed by UC and ERDA.

At an earlier meeting of the Gerberding Committee in Livermore, Valley congressional representative Pete Stark (D-Oakland) suggested that UC get "get out of the weapons business." He said $260 million was appropriated last year for weapons research and development at the two laboratories.

Other persons, notably a number of LLL employes, asked that the relationship between UC and the labs be continued due to the high level of academic freedom given them. They argued that other laboratories, run by private business, don't allow the type of intellectual freedom necessary for research.

Several persons at that meeting criticized management's handling of personnel problems at the Lawrence Lab. Since then, a new labor relations reform package has been initiated, but the details of a new grievance procedure have not been finalized.

The Oct. 5 public hearing will take place in the UC Extension Center Auditorium located at 55 Laguna St. in San Francisco beginning at 10 a.m.

Dr. Richard Wagner of Livermore, LLL associate director for nuclear testing, is a member of the hearing committee. Other members include: Prof. Carlton Bovell, UC Riverside; Prof. Robert Michaelsen, UC Santa Barbara; Prof. Herbert York, UC San Diego, first director of LLL; Prof. Louise Clubb, UC Berkeley; Dr. Edward Hammel, Los Alamos; and Trudy Martin, student body president, UC Berkeley.

Persons scheduled to speak at the hearing include Daniel Ellsberg, a former consultant to the federal government who released the Pentagon Papers.

Huge hike for LLL's laser plan

Cultural arts session

The Livermore Cultural Arts Council has scheduled its next meeting for this Wednesday in the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District offices, 71 Trevarno Rd., Livermore.

Among the items for discussion will be the upcoming Festival '77 and the city thank-you party scheduled for November.

Light trustee agenda

San Ramon Valley Unified School District trustees face a light agenda Monday night, topped by educational competence and soliciting of funds policy matters.

Board members convene at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Center, 699 Old Orchard Dr.

Counsel for the board and teacher representatives held another mediation session Friday morning with little in the way of progress reported toward agreement on a contract.

Trustees will act on a proposed adult education tuition increase recommendation Monday night and schedule a study session on thp high school program.

Pleasanton council busy

Pleasanton City Council members will be busy in the next few days in what normally would be their "off week."

They'll meet with Pleasanton Valley area residents at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Cultural Arts Center, 4477 Black Ave., for the first in a series of "community meetings" away from regular council chambers. Council will listen to citizen input without the structure of a leaden agenda, and discuss the 1978-79 cooperative agreement with Alameda County over federal Housing and Community Development Program funds.

Historic B-17 to visit Valley

WW II champ bids visitors

LIVERMORE — Tuesday will be a big day for former World War II pilots and former little kids who thrilled to seeing Terry and the Pirates sock it to the enemy.

That's the day the Livermore airport will get its first visit from the historic B-17, the plane that won the war in Europe. (In the Pacific, the B-29 got the credit).

The B-17, based in Redding, will stop at California Engine Service at the airport, and, after some engine work, will take the firm's owners, Dick and Kay Dayton, to the annual Texas air show sponsored by the Confederate Air Force, a fun - loving group dedicated to World War II flying nostalgia.

Clay Klabo, a Pleasanton resident who bases his World War II fighter (sans guns) at the Livermore airport also will be along for the ride Tuesday.

A couple of rarities are involved in this story. There are not many B-17's left. Now and then, like the one from Redding, they are pressed into service by a commercial outfit. The Redding plane is owned by Aero Union, which used it as a borate bomber in fighting the Mt. Diablo fire this summer.

The other rarity is the Dayton's plane engine repair service. They are one of only five in the nation capable of working on a B-17. They've done work on planes all over the West Coast and as far north as Alaska and Canada.

"Contact. Give 'er the gun, mechanic," and other meaningful phrases from World War II adventure stories will ring out in Texas next week as local pilots journey to a convention of neate nostalgic airplane pilots. Pleasanton pilot Clay Klabo, shown here with the P-51 "Iron Mistress" which he bases at the Livermore airport, will be in the delegation.

High-speed chase ends as car dies

LIVERMORE — A 26-minute car chase that went through Livermore and Pleasanton at speeds of more than 100 mph ended when the lead car's engine gave out, police reported.

Officer Robert Lucas was patrolling El Caminito Thursday about 8:30 p.m. when he saw a car allegedly pass another on the right and accelerate to more than 60 ph, police reported. Lucas made a U-turn, and with a citizen observer aboard, gave chase.

The suspect vehicle allegedly hit speeds of more than 90 mph as it sped down Stanley Boulevard towards Pleasanton. The chase continued to First Street in Pleasanton where the lead car reportedly went through a stoplight at Neal Street.

Lucas followed the suspect vehicle onto Interstate 680 southbound where speeds of more than 100 mph were reportedly reached. The car turned off at Mission Avenue and overheated, ending the chase.

Two women in the car, who allegedly said they pleaded with the driver to be let out, were released. Booked on suspicion of reckless driving, false imprisonment and resisting arrest were Michael Martin Talpas, 19, of 7032 Tory Court in Dublin, the driver, and Steven Earl Kabel, 19, of 7552 Hillrose Drive in Dublin, the front-seat passenger who police said helped instruct Talpas with the driving.

Youth arrested as burglary suspect, attempts escape

LIVERMORE — A 17-year-old Livermore youth awaiting officers in a police department interview room nearly made good his attempted escape through the ceiling panels, police reported.

An anonymous tip lead police to the youth's home where suspected stolen property was recovered during a search. The suspect is thought by police to be involved in two recent burglaries and a stolen car ring.

Police were discussing the suspect's case when they heard scuffling noises in the interview room in which he was isolated. They looked in just in time to see a foot going up through the ceiling and pulled the suspect down.

The youth was booked on suspicion of possessing stolen poroperty, two counts of burglary, and three counts of auto theft. A second juvenile was booked on suspicion of auto theft and two counts of burglary. The investigation is continuing.

Motorcycle taken at Livermore High, found burning

LIVERMORE — A motorcycle taken from in front of the Livermore High School girls' gym in view of a crowd of students was later found burning on the school's practice field, police reported.

No one in the crowd could identify possible suspects. The investigation is continuing.

Three youths arrested as burglary suspects

LIVERMORE — Three youths suspected of burglarizing a Pine Street home Wednesday were arrested, police reported.

Wanda Jean Pollard's Pine Stereet home was burglarized of jewelry, cash and a wallet during the middle of the day Wednesday.

Police spotted three juveniles near the scene of a prowler complaint and saw one youth chuck a wallet upon seeing the officers. The youths were arrested and the property was recovered.

The suspects were booked on suspicion of burglary. One youth was also booked on suspicion of petty theft.

Stark reports $17.8 million for pipeline

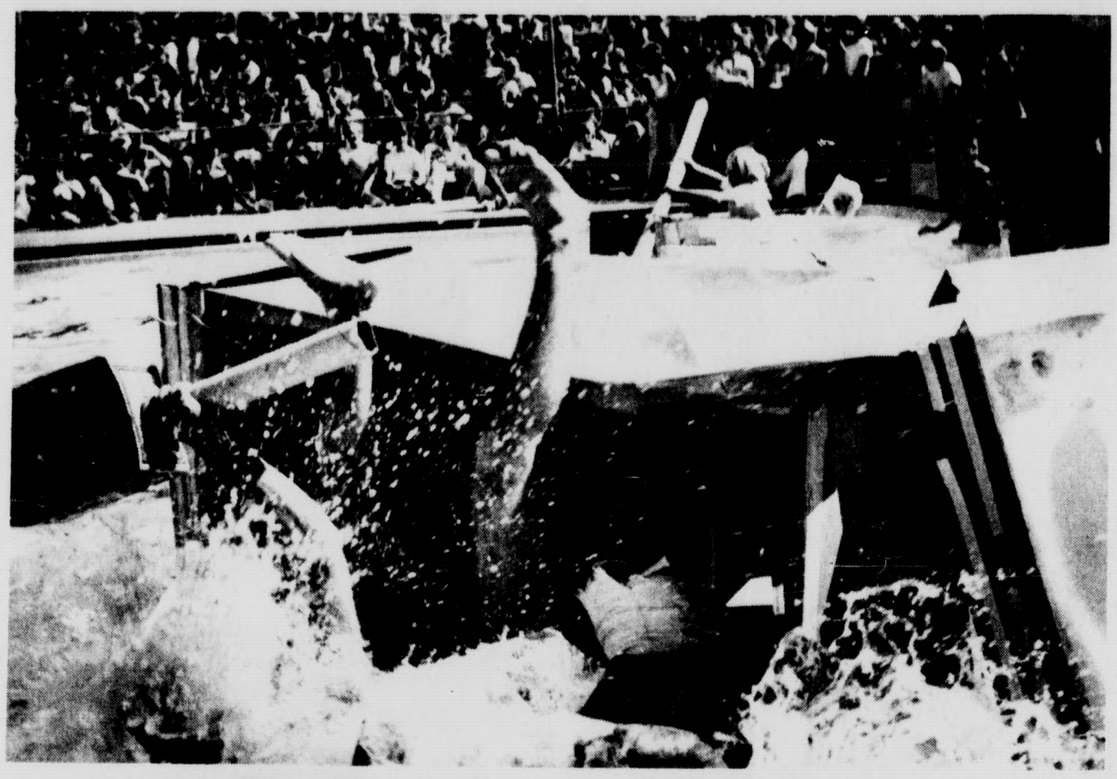
More than $17 million is earmarked in federal aid for the Livermore-Amador Valley's proposed sewer pipeline, according to Rep. Fortney H. (Pete) Stark.

The total grant is $17,853,750.

The East Bay Democrat, whose 9th district includes the Valley, says the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grant will cover approximately 75 per cent of the pipeline's cost, while 12.5 per cent will come from the state and another 12.5 per cent from local sources in the form of revenue bonds.

Planned by the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA), the system will include a pumping station and 26-mile pipeline to carry treated sewage over the hills for disposal at a deepwater outfall in San Francisco Bay.

Stark's office was instrumental in gaining Army approval for a 15 acre site at Camp Parks to accommodate the pumping station.



Cardboard cutup takes flop

Two Livermore High School students "hit the drink" when their craft overturned during the school's "cardboard boat" race Friday afternoon. Hundreds of students watched 20 entries representing different campus groups attempt to cross the school's 25-yard pool. Some even made with the two-man craft manned by Dave Miller and Sue Sealy posting the fastest time overall, 47 seconds.

CCC mines' park opening restricted

The Black Diamond Mines Regional Preserve, Contra Costa County's old coal and sand mining site, has been opened to the public weekends by the East Bay Regional Park District.

A narrow passage through part of the silica sand mining area has been opened though most of the site's 150 miles of tunnels remain too dangerous for use at this time, according to EBRP officials.

The area was first used for coal mining in 1855 and stayed open through 1949 under different operators. Part of the 3,433-acre preserve includes the cemetery and ghost towns of the communities that sprung there during boom times in the late 19th Century.

Visitors in the narrow ⅓ mile passage, first built for carts on narrow-gauge rails, can see the massive caverns from which sand was taken. They should also notice the volcanic strata that show the area is part of Mt. Diablo's volcanic past.

All visitors will be required to wear fitted hard hats, carry lights and register when entering and leaving the passage. No unsupervised walks will be allowed because, according to district staff, caverns and passages that branch out could be a hazard but were not barricaded to keep the space as open as possible.

"This will become another of our major centers for teaching and research by schools, colleges and universities and the public," said EBRP's general manager Richard C. Trudeau.

Educational and historical programs are now being developed by the preserve's naturalist, Joan Dean. Reservations for the weekend mine walks are being taken at the park offices at adjacent Contra Loma Park, phone 757-2620.

Millions more for LLL laser?

the program, not counting the first construction funds for a major new laser. The 1977 authorization was $30.2 million.

The Senate has already passed a similar bill.

The increase is the largest in terms of percentages the LLL program has received in years.

The lab laser fusion program is already the largest in the nation. It's closest competitor — the one at Las Alamos Scientific Laboratory- appears headed for a similar increase, from $20 million in fiscal 1977 to $29.2 million, but only after Congress intervened to alter Carter administration plans. A Senate committee cited the need to allow other contractors to "maintain technical parity" with LLL.

Laser fusion is an energy form expected to have military research applications by the early 1980's and massive civilian energy applications sometime around the year 2000.

When the Carter administration came into office it ordered a restructuring of energy research funding away from very long term projects and toward middle and short term ones. As a result the Energy Research and Development Administration submitted to Congress a budget that allocates $20 million less to laser fusion than had the budget President Ford submitted just before leaving office.

Even that cut, however, spared LLL' operating budget for laser fusion, though it did have some impact on the construction budget.

ERDA's laser fusion chief, Dr. Martin Stickley, — in defending his cuts of other programs — told Congress, "Based on the performance of Lawrence Livermore Laboratory in the last several years, and their management,it is my feeling that the program should have the highest priority of the three approaches (LLL, LSDL and Sandia 'Albuquerque), and thus in fiscal 1978 they have been funded at a bit more than one might normally expect."

"It is my view," Stickley said, "that the glass laser technology (the LLL System) is the lowest risk, nearest to being completed, and it would give us the surest route to demonstrating high energy gain."

Those comments came at hearings where LASL officials argued that while the LLL approach might demonstrate the feasibility of laser fusion first, the LASL approach promised a full fledged commercial power system sooner.

After a trip to LASL and more hearings, at which testified LLL's Director Roger Batzel and laser fusion chief Don Emmett, the committee compromised by basically giving everybody whatever the wanted.

The new construction approved for LLL is a laser called Nova. Essentially an extensive and upgrading of Shiva, a $25 million laser new this year, Nova is expected to evantually cost almost $200 million.

It will increase Shiva's energy output from 20 terawatts to 100 terawatts. One terawatt equals one trillion watts, or about the total electrical energy generating in the U.S. Nova is the laser lab planners hope will actually demonstrate the feasibility of energy gain with lasers.

Ridge plan expanded

SUNOL — Carl Nipper has increased the number of units he wishes to buildi on his Pleasanton Ridge property from 95 to 120, according to the Alameda County Planning Department.

Nipper recently was granted a general plan amendment which will allow the development of the lower 40 per cent of his 400-plus acres. It amounts to 180 acres and at densities up to .9 per acre allowed by county ordinance for that kind of a zoning district, he could have as many as 162 units on his property. But that's in theory. In reality, the terrain is so steep that something less than the maximum would be practical on the lower 40 per cent of his land.

The Valley's supervisor, Valerie Raymond, opposed granting residential development to Nipper, but did not have a third vote to designate Nipper's land for agricultural zoning.

Instead, Supervisor Joseph Bort, who was the swing vote, proposed the compromise between full residential development and full agricultural use. It carried 4-0, with Supervisor Fred Cooper abstaining. Cooper felt that much more of the parcel should be developed.

"If you are going to turn down development in Harlan Geldermann's new town, then you should put more than 200 units on Nipper's property," said Cooper.

Cooper said that If more housing is not built in big numbers in Alameda County, people will have to commute all the way from Manteca to find cheaper housing.

Raymond said that Nipper is proposing houses that will cost a quarter of a million dollars. Cooper replied that nevertheless that will move up enough people so that other cheaper housing will become available to middle class people.

Sunol citizens calling themselves Sunol Citizens Organized Regarding the Environment and the Preserve Area Ridgelands Committee have protested Nipper's development. Their appeal of the planning commission's approval of the development has been continued by the board of supervisors several times.

Injured Times staffer improves at hospital

WALNUT CREEK — A Livermore woman injured in an auto accident late Wednesday is listed in fair condition in Kaiser Hospital.

Bonnie L. Picaman, 50, of Kennedy Street, an employe of .The Valley/Pleasanton Times, was taken to the hospital in serious condition after being pinned beneath the dashboard of her car following the accident.

The highway patrol said Picaman's car hit the guardrail to the left of the northbound lanes on Interstate 680 near the Newell Avenue onramp.

Her car swerved back across the freeway and struck the center divider, the highway patrol said. Firefighters responded and pulled her from the wreckage.

Dublin Back-to-School

Dublin High School's annual Back-to-School-Night is scheduled Tuesday with parents invited to meet initially in the school's Little Theatre at 7:30 p.m. Parents may then follow their student's schedule to learn about curriculum and homework assignments during abbreviated, 10-minute periods. The evening will conclude with coffee and cookies being served in the school library by the Dublin High Parent Advisory Committee. Mapping plans for the evening here are students Steve Cameron and Stephanie Sibilia, seated, and Tim Peck, teacher, and Bob Hagler, principal, right. (Times photo)

Walnut Grove School to get new principal

PLEASANTON— The Pleasanton Joint School District board will appoint a new principal for Walnut Grove School at their meeting slated Wednesday night.

Tom Ingham is presently serving as interim principal. Ingham may be one of the finalists for the position, which drew a large number of applications.

The vacancy was created in late summer when Tony Huff, principal at the school since it opened, resigned to accept a principalship with the Turlock School District.

Ingham has been teaching vice principal prior to assuming the interim post. Walnut Grove is a K-5 school with a unique triconcept of instruction.

At their meeting Wednesday, Pleasanton trustees will also act on a contract with the law firm of Breon, Galgani and Godino for legal counsel.

Reports are also scheduled on summer school and Outdoor Education. An update on current legislation and presentation of parent organization presidents is also on the agenda.

SRV boom creates problems

But the Contra Costa county sheriff's department had a different story in their area.

Administrative Officer, Les Glenn, said from 1970 to 1976, the Contra Costa county sheriff's department workload for patrol services had increased from 36,000 to 71,000.

"That is a 94.6 per cent increase in citizen calls for service," Glenn reported.

He said in the same period of time, peace officers on the street that handled those calls for service had increased from 283 to 309 or a nine per cent increase.

"The net result is thet it takes to answer such calls for service," Glenn said. "Our response time went from 12 minutes to 21 minutes."

An additional problem arose when people from cities moved out here to the unincorporated areas expecting the same fast response time they had in the city, Glenn said.

Glenn declared strict emergencies took priority over other calls for service.

He sid the population increase has made its way felt throughout all areas of the sheriff's department.

This includes workload on laboratory staff, dispatchers, paper work, record storage and so on.

"But we feel the pinch most when people call in for patrol service."

Glenn said the additional beat that is being added will help. The county budget allowed $113,000 this year for this additional beat. Supervisor Eric Hasseltine was instrumental in getting the budget figure approved for the new beat.

"To man a beat 24 hours a day for seven days, it take five people," Glenn said. "A pn, Glenn said. "We are interviewing now and as soon as we can get them properly trained we'll put them to work."

He projected late spring before the new beat could be established.

Play it again in a city band

PLEASANTON — Strike up the band!

It may be the answer to "Pool" with a capital "P" and that spells trouble, my friends. You got troubles right here in River City ... err, Pleasanton.

And the answer, just as it came from Prof. Harold Hill of "Music Man" fame, is in the town band.

Locally, it's called the "Bicentennial Band," because, naturally enough, it was born to perform for the nation's 200th birthday.

But, as with any gathering of musicians, they didn't know when to quit. Hence the city's very own band.

Under director Jerry Lapinski, the 35-piece ensemble meets once a week to rehearse, and performs occasional concerts.

Band members are coming back from their summer hiatus, thus affording an "opportune time" to open their doors to new members, according to bandsman Eric Frerking.

The qualifications?

"Any person who played an instrument in high school," says Eric, "or who can play at about high school level is welcome to join."

The band is particularly short in the percussion, clainet and low bass sections, "though any other instrument is also welcome," says Eric.

Rehearsals are held at 7:30 every Thursday evening in the Amador High School band room.

The band currently is preparing for a Christmas concert to be held Dec. 11 in the high school auditorium.

So polish that brass, sharpen those reeds, and pick up sticks.

Murray Schools to act on Jr. High bids

Murray School District board members will take action on bids for conversion of Frederiksen School to full intermediate school use at Monday night's meeting.

Trustees will convene at Donlon School, 4150 Dorman Rd. in Pleasanton, at 8 p.m.

The school now houses seventh and eighth grade students but facilities have not been remodeled to allow for physical education changing rooms, shop and other special instruction areas.

Actual work will start later in the fall and continue until spring of 1978.

All junior high school students in the district now attend either Frederiksen or Wells, both in the Dublin area of the district.

Trustees will also hear a report from Lynn Hollfelder on resource and Mentally Gifted Minor (MGM) programs at Donlon School.

Monday's meeting will be the initial one with a revised agenda order, as advanced by Superintendent Jessie Kobayashi.

Board members will also discuss a television viewing guide. The guide suggests that parents watch television with their children and rate the programs using guidelines suggested, keep a check list with the ratings next to the television set, talk about programs with your children and involve them in making the decisions about which programs the family will view, observe children at play ("Are they acting out TV or developing their own imagination"), and choose to improve children's TV by writing a letter to a local station.

The board will also consider a hold harmless agreement with the Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Company, a student teaching contract with Cal State Hayward, and hold an executive session.

Prevent crime

Mayor Helen Tirsell and Police chief Ron Lindgren examine the proclamation making the week of Oct. 8-15 Crime Prevention Week in Livermore. Special displays, including a van to be at various locations, a coloring book contest and special sticker badges for the children will highlight the week.

Bio-medical students at Amador probe for practical experience

While fingering-about in the lung and trachea of freshly-cut beef at 10 in the morning may not be an idyllic A.M. pastime to you, some 26 bio-medical students at Amador Valley High School like it just fine.

In fact, they asked to be a part of the unique two-hour daily program that is near equal parts science and mathematics — as they apply to health and medicine.

The sophomore and junior students were selected for the Bio-medical Interdisciplinary Curriculum program on four criteria: Interest in health and medicine, a year of Algebra with a "C" or better grade, an overall grade point average of B-minus or higher, and some background in biology.

But proof of the commitment students must have rests in the fact the bio-med is a two-year program — thus seniors are not eligible.

Students typically spend an hour with instructor George Jacobson in mathematics, followed by two hours with Eric Sensiba in science.

During the year, students will be involved in units of study on respiration, nutrition and circulation, each unit varying in length from perhaps three to six weeks.

In addition to mathematics, they'll receive instruction in chemistry, physiology, anatomy, some physics and biology.

They will work with two texts, one a student text that describes case histories of diseases and ailments and the other a lab manual relating procedures for microscope study and dissection.

Sensiba says there'll be homework almost every night, the student typically reading his text to determine what he'll do in lab the next day. Homework will also include doing lab reports.

First started at a handful of high schools around the state five years ago, the bio-med program is now a part of the curriculum at 13 with Amador, American High in Fremont and College Park in Pleasant Hill the only known schools in the East Bay participating in the unique two-year class.

Sensiba and Jacobsen, along with assistant principal Tom Himmelberg, intend on forming an advisory panel of professionals in the health and medicine fields as well as those community residents simply interested in the disciplines.

The class is also interested in any materials that could be furnished that would aid students in their studies. Sensiba said they'll be taking field trips to health facilities in the Valley and Bay Area, and would appreciate contacts with persons in the field who could help setup such visits.

Visitations will usually be scheduled at the conclusion of each unit— to learn about systems of the body.

New Town pegged as a national issue

Las Positas, the proposal for a new town north of Livermore defeated recently by Alameda County Supervisors, is an issue of national importance, according to its would - be developer, Harlan Geldermann.

The Las Positas issue is not dead. As a matter of routine, it will go to the county planning cOmmission soon, where it will be up to that panel to decide whether its original recommendation for the new town of 45,000 people should still stand.

The planning commission okayed the plan on a 5-1 vote last March 7, but its opinion was only advisory to the supervisors. Commissioner Barbara Shockley of San Lorenzo was the lone dissenter; Martin Kauffman was absent.

If the planning commission approves Geldermann's plan again, it would go back to the supervisors. They would be free to ignore it, but if a new town supporter like Supervisor Fred Cooper moved again to approve the plan, presumably it would lose by the same 3-2 vote which negated it last time.

"This decision affects almost everyone in one way or another," Geldermann said in a press release. "It affects the young who are seeking decent and affordable housing. It affects the poor who are seeking jobs. It affects minorities who, despite new economic gains, are still locked into the ghetto by such de facto segregation acts as the Las Positas vote."

Geldermann said he will nlist support from labor and minority groups and other developers in his fight to get Las Positas approved the second time around.

"Bluntly, if the Livermore 'no - growthers' have their way, then a monstrous precedent has been set which allows any community to determine if it wants neighbors and when it wants neighbors. This is a classical case of how the 'haves' have found a vehicle to keep out the 'have nots'. They have created their own lily - wihite islands and this sure as hell is not what our founding fathers had in mind."

Home happiness

From Sacramento and from Oakland this week came three bits of news relative to housing that offers an encouraging note, for a change, to those who still see a future for the single family residence.

Governor Brown, responding to new state legislation, observed that lending institutions must now look to the integrity of the family, rather than the long - term security of that neighborhood, in considering that home owner's application for a loan.

The goal is to eliminate "red lining" and other practices whereby lenders can block out entire neighborhoods from loan consideration, regardless of the merits of any one property or its owner.

If properly enforced, this new law will help check the downward slide of inner city areas and older residential areas, often dominated by minorities.

It was perhaps that same goal which prompted an Oakland ad hoc group to praise the recent board of supervisors decision against Harlan Geldermann's "New Town" plan for 15,000 "lower cost homes" close by Livermore.

"What we need are reinvestment strategies and resources that benefit our existing urban areas," states United Neighbors In Action. "We have thousands of homes to rehabilitate in our inner city areas," that statement continues. New suburban centers like Geldertown only detract from that drive to rebuild thos c those core areas, the Oakland neighborhood group asserts.

That kind of reasoning from the inner city areas tells us there is hope yet for the big cities. And thatwould be good news for every taxpayer.

Park District role

On Wednesday's editorial page The Times offered support for the right of one property owner (William Apperson) to develop his ranch to commercial recreational uses, notwithstanding the persistent opposition provided from a consortium of groups who see themselves as protectors of our open space.

We included in our target the East Bay Regional Park District which we suggested was resisting Apperson's dude ranch proposal close by the Sunol Regional Park.

"That simply is not true," we are now advised by Richard Trudeau, general manager of the EBRPD. "The park district, the board of directors or this office has never taken any position on Apperson's dude ranch proposal. We have in fact affiremed a posture of strict neutrality on that question."

The park district did, Trudeau recalls, have "questions about Apperson's plans" dealing specifically with the owner's proposal for access into his ranch by private road and by private helicopter. "But both those concerns were resolved to our satisfaction some time ago."

There are, as we mentioned earlier, a number of "pro public park" groups which stoutly condemn Apperson's dude ranch as a threat to all of Sunol's "wilderness area." An organization calling itself the "Regional Park Association" is part of that resistance movement.

But we have Mr. Trudeau's assurance that "the park district is not formally or informally involved in any opposition to Apperson's proposal for recreational use of his lands." We are pleased to pass that corrected information along to our readers.

Insulation 'No' vote

Editor, The Times:

Recently, Council member Staley found it necessary to write a letter to you justifying his majority position on the controversial energy ordinance. Mr. Staley made reference to the following ingredients of the ordinance: 1. No one is required to do anything unless the house is sold. 2. Nothing is required of those homes already built to the standard of the ordinance. 3. Nothing is required of the homes which do not have easy access to the area to be insulated.

Those statement are true. That is what the ordinance says.

What he didn't say though, is that in reference to point No. 2, is that when I asked the Chief building inspector "how they (the inspectors) determined a home meets the standards of the ordinance," he stated that the City inspectors "frankly guess."

Mr. Staley's letter went on to say if a home needed to be insulated it would cost (estimated) $250, and the energy savings, when the home is insulated, is estimated to be 25 per cent. When I asked the question of the chief building inspector, "how much energy do you save by insulating," he didn't know, nor did anybody else at the council meeting of Sept. 19. The entire discussion of the ordinance was without hard data.

Mr. Staley's letter went on justifying his reason for voting for the ordinance.

I voted against the ordinance for many reasons. Some of those reasons are mentioned above. But my main reason for voting "no" was based on te following facts: This is another piece of local legislation that is a direct cost to the residents. It is an extension of other cost-based local legislation. It is an incentive to pass other cost-based local legislation in the name of safety, conservation, etc. (I am, of course, speaking of the already adopted attic fan ordinance and the dead-bolt lock ordinance.) It has not been proven there will be a real energy savings by increased insulation.

I think that energy conservation is important, and we should make the effort to save. The Livermore energy ordinance though will not significantly make any dent in our energy usage in the foreseeable future. The final vote on this ordinance will be Oct. 3, at the Council Chambers. (Livermore Court, 59 North Livermore Avenue).

I will again vote against the ordinance because I object to "Livermore residents being everybodies' guinea pig." We should be directing our effort in the direction of the federal and state officials asking them to take a more definite stand on our energy position.

If you wish to voice your opinion on this ordinance, come to the meeting; call the city hall (447-2100) to voice your opinion, or call a member of the council. The switch-board operator at city hall (447-2100) has our telephone numbers. Thank you.

Dale Turner
Councilman, Livermore

The week in retrospect

Rights or rites?

The donkeys are braying again!

Take Rep. John Burton....please!....for example.

Burton, brother Phil, Fortney Stark and that ilk would hand over the Panama Canal to the Grand Duchy of Panama faster than you could say "Teddy Roosevelt" if you let them.

They'd also defuse Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, only Stark resolutely refuses to understand there's really no "wick" there to begin with.

Nor does there seem to be any number of employes falling over from some strange malady....but that's another matter.

On the international scene, the Canal has caused polarization along traditional liberal/conservative lines.

Hence Burton taking potshots at Ronald Reagan.

Burton has suggested that if the United States maintains control over the Canal, that the former Governor be in charge of troops to defend the vital economic and defense link.

This little number assumes some sort of militaristic confrontation in the future.

The Brothers Burton have always been keen on assumptions. Like assuming that the U.S. presence along the Canal has been overstayed.

With "thinkers" like that, is the day too far removed when any American "presence" in the northern half of the Rio Grande River will be unlawful.

So much for that silliness.

If you have an interest in the California State Employees Association, your "stock" just went up Friday.

The jump occurred when Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr. signed into law legislation granting limited collective bargaining rights to about 90,000 state employes.

The action brought a "In-your-heart-you-know-we're-right" statement from one William Craib, president of the massive CSEA.

Lawmakers have been moving gradually in recent years to extend collective bargaining rights to public employes.

By signing the bottom line, Brown has opened the front door (or back, depending on your viewpoint) to Craib and his minions.

There seems little doubt they'll find there way to the bedroom to consummate this "marriage," though the courtship may take a few more legislative sessions in the front parlour.

The bill signed Friday, SB 839 by Sen. Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, is the second such measure approved by the legislature in the last three years. The first covered 350,000 school employes.

Under the Dills legislation, the governor's representatives would be required to bargain with employe organizations on such things as wages, working hours and other job conditions.

However, any agreement worked out by the two sides would have to be approved by the legislature.

The bill creates a Public Employment Relations Board that will divide workers into units for bargaining purposes, and each unit will have the right to choose an exclusive bargaining agent.

The equivalent for school employees is the Educational Employment Relations Board (EERB).

But the measure signed Friday says that workers cannot be forced to join an employe group or be required to pay dues to it. The administration and a worker group could choose a mediator to attempt to settle a deadlock, but the bill does not provide for binding arbitration.

It also does not grant workers the right to strike.

Will school employes please note this point!

The bill's backers say that the measure would grant most state workers "a right they deserve."

Oh!

Letters to the Times

Councilman Turner

Editor, The Times:

Livermore city councilman Mr. Turner says today "I have felt all along that the mayor of Livermore should answer directly to the people." This contradicts his statement before the council at a public meeting that he, Mr. Turner, must answer only to his employer, the Loydd Banking Corporation, or lose his job.

Roman J. Morkowski
Livermore

Public employee

Editor, The Times:

Overburdened taxpayers throughout the State of California are seeking every avenue possible to reduce the strain being put on their budget by escalating government costs. Taxes pay for government services. When one out of every five workers is employed by some branch of the local, state or federal government or the lcal school district, it is obvious, skyrocketing costs occur because of a duplication of services and an overabundance of personnel.

The fastest growing unions in our country are public employe unions. In California, public employe unions are growing 375 percent faster than the population. Unionized policemen, firemen, teachers, sanitation workers and those employed in the health services perform essential services. These services must be continual. When these employes resort to the picket lines theg are striking against their own employers — all taxpayers who foot the bills for their salaries.

If we really want to reduce our horrendous tax burden, we should all join together and do something about costly strikes by public employes which occur at the expense of the people.

The Committee for Citizens' Rights is circulating a petition to gather the required number of signatures to put their Initiative on the June '78 ballot. It is entitled: Prohibition of Strikes by Public Employes. Petitions to sign and/or circulate are available from the Committee for Citizens' Rights, P.O. Box 5346, Sherman Oaks, Ca 91413 or by calling (213) 345-2712.

City government

Editor, The Times:

Not being a politician, I had never ventured a visit to our so called City Council meeting, untill the other night. I have however, had the opportunity to visit other Governmental meetings in other localities with in the United States. It is an enjoyable experience, to witness good government in action. I came away from the would be Council meeting, wondering if this beautiful City of Livermore was part of the United States. I had witnessed the City Council, totally ignore the principle of government by the people.

They totally ignored the principle, of their own procedure. The only reason why governmental persons would even ask for public testimony, would be to give them a conception of how the public feels about the subject befor them. While the public was testifying in regard to the ordinance about energy and insulation, the council members were talking among themselves, the mayor was drawing pictures on a paper that was befor her. This gave me the impression that the out come of this ordinance had been decided behind closed doors. Why else would an elected official be so insulting befor their public?

The taxpayers go to the meetings to be recognized as a concerned individual. We talk about people not having Governmental concern, about not wanting to get involved. Why should we, if we are to be ignored and insulted The testimony concerning the energy ordinance, was definitely not, in favor of it. The council members were definitely having troulbe justifying their action, in favor of it. I understand that this is not the first time that this type of dictator action has come to light.

The question here is: Not that the energy ordinance is good or bad, The question is was the ordinance passed in a manner becoming of equil representation? Was the representative procedure carried out in good faith by the council?

The signs read "where the Hell is Livermore" should it be in the Unitd States? With this type of representation.

round the town

President Carter has promised to do something to "streamline" this nation's rules of flight. He wants to make it easier for more of us to get from here to there, and maybe even back again.

Not the Bert Lance kind of flight. That's not what President Jim had in mind, I think. He was referring to the rest of us, those millions who climb on board a jet once a year for the big trip. There are millions more who have never set foot on one of those blessed birds. Can't say as I blame 'em.

Let's face it, flying is no barrel of laughs. Not only uncomfortable, but costly, too. That is, airline tabs kept soaring until President Jim stuck his thumb in the pie. Came up with a plum of an idea.

"Why not reduce fares so as to encourage more Americans to fly, fill up more of those empty seats, and that way make every flight more profitable?" The president has been saying that quite often. Airline people wish he would knock if off.

It took a Britisher, name of Laker, to get the President's message. Mr. Laker slashed air fares to London ... as low as $226 from New York to the UK. The American carriers had to get in step, naturally.

Mr. Laker will not serve his passengers three gourmet meals, in that $226 flight from N.Y. to U.K. He won't even feed you at all, unless you pay a little extra. "No frills" it's called. No booze, either.

"This Laker character has the idea that all airlines have to offer is transportation from one airfield to another," a frustrated American flying exec complained. Can't imagine what ever gave Mr. Laker that idea.

I can remember when trains offered that kind of no nonsense service, way back way. For ten dollars a day you could travel forever, on third class coach, stretch out the seats at night for a comfy rest.

Meals? Cook your own on the wood stove provided in every third class coach. Or else flag the sandwich - and - fruit man who worked his way through the train, huge basket of goodies hanging from shoulder straps.

Then trains went to "full service" ... spacious overnight accommodations, dining rooms, bar service, lots of snappy stewards. Was not long after that passenger trains went broke, and then quit altogether.

"Airlines today are going through exactly the same process that passenger trains went through 30 years ago," a veteran trainman said just the other day. "It won't be long before jet travel winds up in the same financial mess the railroads got into."

President Jim would like to convince airlines they could stay in the sky, and in the black, by staying out of the hotel - and - restaurant biz. Start catering to passengers for travel's sake, and little else.

He's making some progress. Year ago we wanted to fly to Washington. "See our nation's capital in the bicentennial year," and all that. Cheapest air fare we could find was $340 round trip.

This year it's $231, same airline, same trip. Only difference is they'll cut down on the food with the $231 version. Hurray!

What we really wanted to do this year was fly to Australia, check with the Queensland branch of the family, see grandchild No. 3. But Quantas Airlines has yet to catch onto President Jim's "fly more for less" theory. And Quantas won't let any competing American airline cut its Australian rates, either.

Cheapest fare, San Francisco to Sydney and return, is $1650. And climbing. One Sydney - bound traveller I know says he will fly to New York for $216, thence to London (via Laker) for another $226, and from UK to Australia for $800. "Costs less than the San Francisco - to - Sydney route, and I see twice as much world," he explains.

An outfit called Air Carrier Committee for Regulatory Ref orm maintains our airline regulations and rates belong to the dark ages. They'd like federal flight authority (CAB) to get in step, or get out of the way.

"Airline travel could be made available for millions more Americans if all airlines were w-allowed to compete in the market place for .customers just like any other business." That's one theory.

Fly more, feed you less. Let passengers carry their own sandwiches, and sneak a bottle of spirits on board under a heavy overcoat. Later, use same overcoat for a pillow. Sweet dreams.

That's the way we travelled on the train, in the good old days, when railroads still carried people for profit. Sure hope President Jim can convince the airline people to see the wisdom of all that.

Nobody I know of looks forward to flying the friendly skies of AMTRAK.

Law biz

Garvin Shallenberger has a thing about locusts.

Shallenberger is the incoming president of the State Bar of California. That's the outfit lawyers have to belong to in order to practice.

He is annoyed by all of the bumrapping that attorneys get. Especially when folks compare lawyers to a plague of locusts. You probably remember the original plague of locusts in the Bible. Locusts are little insects that get together in big conventions and eat everything in sight. In the Bible, they cleaned out the Egyptian grain crop one time.

I never would have thought of attorneys as locusts, but Shallenberger has put some new possibilities in my consciousness. I suppose he means that attorneys sometimes are seen as greedy people who try to wind up with five - sixths of the inheritance in an estate. Or with 80 per cent of some other settlement. I bet some clients really do feel that way.

I've never had any client - attorney relationship. My only dealings have been in the news game and I've found all the attorneys cooperative, straightforward, and honest. This despite one of my colleague's admonitions to always count the fingers on my hand after shaking hands with an attorney.

I think the animosity directed against attorneys may have to do with their professional roles. The nickname for them at one time was "mouthpiece". They are, in some instances, hired rhetoricians, who present the judge with the best - sounding possible reasons for why their clients did what they did. It puts the lawyer in a position, I imagine, where he or she sometimes doesn't agree with what is being said. But they are defending their clients' rights to say those things. An admirable practice of the First Amendment, I must say.

Shallenberger seemed to hit it right on the head when he said, in a press release, "Being on all sides of all issues results in our cultivating many enemies, while simultaneously, for reasons that are obscure, not achieving at least an equal number of supporters."

Shallenberger cited a couple of cases where people might take offense at the work of lawyers, though he saw the lawyers in a more noble light. One of the cases was the defense of former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally, who was found "not guilty" of some manipulation of the milk lobbying funds. (How time flies; I forget the exact charges against Connally, nor do I think he was innocent.) "We give our protection to the powerful and the pitiful," said Shallenberger. He meant Connally as an example of the powerful.

I am intrigued by his defense of attorneys from the charge they are hungry locusts. "Such reasoning fails to grasp the point that there is apparently a hunger in the people of this land to assert and solidify their individual, personal and property rights. Recent trends indicate that it requires a lot of lawyers to assuage that hunger.

"The hungry locust comparison ignores the fact that the law of supply and demand will irrevocably cut down the number of lawyers to that which is needed by society. There are no subsidies or other artificial factors protecting the legal profession from this relentless law. If our number is increasing and if that trend continues, it is only and solely because society feels the need for that quantum of our services."

There you have it. It's the people who are hungry for justice. When their own locust hunger is satisfied, the plague of lawyers will subside. A good thing, too, since a fair percentage of the new ones are having a tough time finding jobs.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband wants our 17-year-old to enter a local beauty contest. She's extremely beautiful, gifted and bright but life seems to be more diffiuclt for her than for her sisters. She's confused about boys and I've talked with her about them. If she enters the contest I'm sure she'll win and forget about completing her education. Am I wrong in persuading her to ignore the contest? — M.McC.

DEAR M. McC.: I think you're right. Of course, your husband is proud of his daughter, but I suggest you encourage him to express his pride in her intellectual talents, rather than just in her looks. Try to ignore her physical attributes. She needs to be given a chance to develop her potential without being burdened by her looks. Exceptional beauty can be a definite handicap. One of the problems, even in adolescence is that beauties and the men they date are frequently disappointed and disillusioned in love. The girl realizes she can easily manipulate people and she may use her beauty to gain her ends.

Nice, but inhibited, as well as ambitious and intelligent boys may keep their distance because they're afraid to compete. This leaves only males who are more sexually aggressive, so it is not surprising that your daughter is confused. She may be faced with demands she doesn't know how to handle.

She needs help and support from you and your husband. Encourage her to think of herself as a whole, many-facted human being, not as a commodity or an object to be admired, bartered and used. The beauty contest is unimportant and places emphasis on the wrong values.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I don't know why I'm always so wrong about love. The men I fall in love with turn out to be mean and punishing. Fortunately, I haven't married any of these charmless wonders yet. I fall in love fast. I meet a man, talk with him for only a few hours and I feel a deep, powerful attraction I can't resist. Then, I'm unhappy and disappointed when it doesn't work out. What should I do? — A.R.

DEAR A.R.: Try to pinpoint the common denominator that you initially find so attractive in these men. Then look back in your early years. The pattern may have begun then. Often, we look for something in our mates that reminds us of our parents who were our first loves. We may seek out their kind of behavior in others without knowing exactly what draws us to them .

Try to analyze your own behavior. Does something in you bring out their meanness. Do you unconsciously goad a man into behaving in a certain way without being aware of what you're doing.

The fact that you recognize that you are caught up in a self-destructive pattern will help you to overcome your problem.

The myths of ancient Greece tell of a frightful, snake-haired monster named Medusa (say mu-DOO-suh). According to legend, Medusa lived a long way over the ocean, at the end of the earth. She had leathery wings, brazen claws, fangs for teeth, and writhing, poisonous snakes for hair. Medusa was so hideous that anyone who looked directly into her face was turned to stone.

Medusa, so the story goes, had been very beautiful in her youth and very vain. She boasted of her beauty to the goddess Athena, who became jealous and changed her into an ugly monster.

Perseus, the strong and brave Greek hero, finally slew the dreaded Medusa with his magic sword.

He used his brightly polished shield as a mirror with which to see Medusa and cut off the monster's head without looking directly at her.

Perseus later used Medusa's head to turn his enemies to stone.

Dr. Lamb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Which is more serious, sugar in the urine or sugar in the blood? I have been considered a diabetic and would like to know. I'm 70 and have never had any of the symptoms of diabetes that you hear about. My sugar count is within the normal range and I have no sugar in my urine.

DEAR READER — It sounds like you have nothing to worry about. The blood glucose (sugar) is normally higher in people over 50 and the normal range includes higher levels each decade. I'm not convinced this is good. Higher levels may be considered normal because they are common, but I would prefer that people continued to have lower levels as they get older — if they are to be in optimal health, not just normal in the sense of a frequent occurrence.

The blood glucose level has to be around 160 or 170 to result in spilling glucose in the urine. This is a higher level than you should have in the blood except as a peak value after ingesting a lot of glucose as for a glucose test. The blood test is really the most accurate indicator of whether or not you have diabetes but the urine test is adequate for home control of diabetes in most cases.

Many diabetics do not have symptoms when the disease is first diagnosed by blood tests or from sugar in the urine. As the disease advances the person may then experience fatigue, weight loss, frequency of urination, drinking lots of water and other symptoms.

To give you more complete

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a middle-aged woman suffering from the symptoms associated with an artificial menopause — hot flashes, headaches, insomnia, sweats, palpitations, etc. — resulting from the removal of healthy ovaries during a recent hysterectomy for fibroid tumors of the uterus.

How long does it take normally take the body to adjust to these conditions? The prescribed low dosage of Premarin has not helped alleviate the symptoms as yet.

DEAR READER — It is an individual matter. Some women produce enough female hormones from the tiny adrenal glands over the kidneys to avoid severe reactions and others do not. Then all the symptoms that people attribute to the menopause are not always caused by the menopause.

Hot flashes are one of the specific symptoms that almost all doctors agree can be alleviated by estrogen. Your doctor may need to increase your medicine for a while. Since your uterus has been removed the possible increased risk of cancer of the uterus from taking female hormones has been eliminated.

More recent studies confirm that the small risk of increased strokes or heart attacks or other vascular problems in women taking female hormones are particularly apt to occur in the women who take female hormones and smoke, too. The smoking is the big factor. So, I would advise you to stop smoking if that happens to be one of your habits.

Oct. 2, 1977

A trip of considerable distance is likely this coming year. It's something you've been hoping to do. The means and time should be available.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Attitude is all-important today, and it's imperative that you be positive. Permitting self-doubts to creep in could turn you from a winner to a loser.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be generous today, but also be discerning enough to be able to recognize those who play on your sympathy for selfish purposes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In joint ventures it's probable today that your mate or partner will have the better slant on things. Let him be captain.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your greatest rewards today will come from something that appeared to hold the smallest promise. All that glitters is not gold.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll have more fun today participating in activities you're familiar with, rather than doing something untried and questionable.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you're entertaining today, keep it simple and don't put on any extra airs. Save the good china for another time.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In partnership arrangements today, be sure you pull as a team. If one tends to slack off, it will induce the other to do so as well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Materially, conditions are a mixed bag today. Profit can be earned from the sweat of your brow, but not through blue-sky speculations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Control of matters personally important to you should not be allowed to slip through your capable hands today. Associates could steer you onto the rocks.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't diminish the luster of your charitable acts today by broadcasting your good deeds. It could embarrass the one you help.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be in a rather gregarious mood today. You'll need to be where the action is. Enjoy yourself, but don't damage your budget.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Strike while the iron is hot, if an opportunity arises today to further your ambitions or career. Practical matters must take precedence.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Science is a great thing. Ask any scientist."

Jim: "It doesn't always work at the bridge table. Here is a hand from a team game where the helter-skelter bidder scored 690 points and the scientist wound up with minus 190."

Oswald: "No one can quarrel with either the one heart opening or the two-diamond response which started the action at both tables."

Jim: "There was a parting of the ways when the bidding got back to South. The unscientific South jumped to three notrump. West opened the three of spades and it didn't take South any time at all to run off seven diamonds, four spades and the ace of hearts."

Oswald: "At the other table South explored with a bid of two spades. North rebid to three diamonds and South closed the auction at three notrump. Warned away from all other suits, West opened a club and East cashed five club tricks."

Jim: "This hand is a good example of luck in duplicate. Give North one more spade and one less club and the man who did not bid spades would have lost a slam."

Educators push federal rule to erase sex bias

Title IX, a federal mandate to eliminate sex bias in public education, drew approximately 500 educators from throughout the western United States to San Francisco last week.

The occasion was a three-day workshop sponsored by the California Coalition for Sex Equity in Education (CCSEE). It was held at the Airport Hilton Thursday through Saturday.

"The conference dealt with changes in education brought about by Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972," Dr. Barbara Peterson, coordinator of Project Equity, pointed out. "We tried to provide strategies educators can use to eliminate sexism, racism, and classism in our schools."

The workshop is designed to train participants so they can work with educators in their own school districts. Educators from East Bay and Valley districts attended as well as from throughout California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii. Members of the sponsoring CCSEE include the Association of California School Administrators (ACSA), the California State Department of Education, and Project Equity, a federally-funded training program to eliminate sex bias.

Highlighting the conference will be presentations by Nancy Reeves, Highlighting the conference were presentations by Dr. Nancy Reeves, member of the California State Board of Education; Dr. Carol N. Jacklin, Stanford University's department of psychology; Charles Guerrier, staff attorney for the Women's Law Fund; and Dr. Shirley D. McCune, director of Title IX Equity Workshops for the Council of Chief State School Officers.

McCune lead off the program Thursday with a presentation on grievance procedures under Title IX, followed by Guerrier's update on legal questions under the federal mandate Thursday evening.

Jacklin spoke on skills in identifying discrimination Friday, and Reeves wrapped-up the workshop Saturday.

In addition to these major presentations, participants discussed bias in instruction, athletics, employment practices, student activities, guidance and counseling and the job of the Title IX coordinator.

Scaled-down Blackhawk plan wins CC planners' approval

DANVILLE — Scaled-down plans for a portion of the 2,500 acre Blackhawk subdivision east of Danville have been approved by the county Planning Commission.

The commission approved the project's phase II which c calls for 84 homes to be built on a 177-acre planned unit district on both sides of Blackhawk Road.

A bath and tennis club to be constructed on the same site was also approved.

Original plans called for 250 homes.

Blackhawk Company has filed redesigned preliminary plans for phase III. This phase includes development of a 1,637 acre parcel to be known at "The Country Club at Blackhawk."

Again the number of homes has been decreased from 2,000 to 985.

In an attached report, developers said the reasons for the new design were "to overcome community resistance to the earlier plan, to materially lessen the demands of the development upon public facilities, and to lessen the environmental impact upon the existing community."

The ceremony was followed by a social with the wives of the Knights in attendance.

FOLK ART

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — The Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Folk Art Collection has put on display a 19th-century fireboard with a landscape called "The Castle of Montgomery."

Fireboards were used until the mid-19th century to cover hearth openings when the fireplace was not in use, but well-documented Southern examples such as this one are rare. The subject of the landscape is believed to have been derived from a print or book illustration.

New stores hike tax revenue

Business is booming in Dublin and on the outskirts of Pleasanton this month. There have been so many grand openings lately that local chamber of commerce representatives and the Maids of Dublin and Pleasanton have had their hands full just posing for pictures.

An antique shop, a homespun delicatessen and a fancy home construction company are the most recent additions to these growing East Bay communities.

Revenue from taxes based on gross retail sales showed a marked increase for the second quarter of this year.

This is just one (indication of the tremendous growth that merchants are experiencing in the entire San Ramon Valley.

Ken and Athea Garcia have got "Master Jacks" started on the road to success. They represent the Pleasanton contingent that is keeping pace with the Valley's clothing business in the fast growing Mission Plaza shopping center.

Elly's Deli offers a wide selection of meats and cheeses to go with their creative catering and luncheon specialities. Elly's is located in Lucky's shopping center just off San Ramon Road in Dublin.

Broadmoor Homes, Inc. is building waterfront townhomes in key spots of the Bay Area. The company, originally from Canada has such attractions as tennis courts and golf courses in their planned communities.

Country Heritage is also open for business in Pleasanton's Mission Plaza shopping center. They specialize in Early American antiques and decor.

UCB's Maggie Degnim tells tips on check writing procedures and sound banking fundamentals to young audience.

Fifth graders learn basic banking tactics

SAN RAMON — If those fifth graders you know in the area of Country Club School seem to know all the "ins" and "outs" of writing checks and banking in general, it's not just an accident.

They've been involved in a concentrated unit on banking, the latest imparting of knowledge coming from a professional in the field, Maggie Degnim of United California Bank locally.

Ms. Degnim talked about checking accounts, the importance of keeping a balanced account, deposits and withdrawals and check book ledgers during her visit with fifth graders at Country Club Thursday.

Present were students of Nick Ragusano, Sue Johnston, Tom Reid, and Sally Scholl.

Through the use of visual aides she brought along, Ms. Degnim showed how to maintain a check book ledger, reconcile a statement, and write a check.

She also pointed out that checks nowadays often include drawings or pictures of scenic points such as Mission Carmel, the coastline and Joshua trees in the desert.

The unit on banking is but one that fifth graders will be exposed to as they learn more about the businesses and industries in their community.

Rascal racers

Those little racers with the big, big wheels can ride for charity during the upcoming Big Wheel-a-Thon for the March of Dimes, sponsored by the Pleasanton Jaycee Wives. Kids can sign up this weekend between 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. at the Safeway, Alpha Beta and Lucky stores in Pleasanton, and McDonald's in both Dublin and Livermore. There are race catagories for three different age groups — for kids three and under, four and five, and six, seven and eight years. Both races will begin Saturday, Oct. 8 at the Alameda County Fairgrounds main lawn area, main entrance. All participants will receive a free Big Wheel safety flag, as well as a hamburger, fries and coke from McDonald's. All proceeds go to help the March of Dimes.

Amtrak cooks skilled with old wood burners

By JOY TOPPIN
Associated Press Writer

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Grandma wouldn't be baffled in the kitchen of a gleaming red, silver and blue Amtrak train speeding across the country. She was an artist at turning out wholesome meals on wood-burning, cast-iron stoves — and so are many Amtrak cooks. The stoves are standard on most of Amtrak's older dining cars — the ones inherited in 1971 when the National Railroad Corp. took over most of the country's passenger service from private railroads.

Barbara Halliday, an Amtrak spokeswoman in Washington, D.C., said some of the dining cars are more than 30 years old, and many of the cooks were inherited with the cars.

An Amtrak chef, using a stove filled with flaming pressed-wood logs, must have a quick eye and a sharp nose because the stoves have no temperature controls.

"Once you get it hot, you just know when to add one more log at a time to maintain the temperature," said Ulysses Harper, one of Amtrak's chefs, as he sweated over a stove on a run between San Francisco and Denver.

Amtrak started operations with 286 diesel and 40 electric locomotives and 1,275 cars, all bought or leased from existing railroad lines. During the past six years, Amtrak has spent or committed $582.7 million to buy new equipment.

The newer Amfleet kitchens operate on electric power provided by the locomotive. Individual meals are prepared by a caterer and frozen on the train. The food later is heated in a modern oven.

Later this year, Amtrak will begin to use the first of its new bi-level Superliner cars, the first long-distance passenger cars to be built in the United States in decades, Ms. Halliday, who prefers that title, said.

Each Superliner will have an electric kitchen with microwave and standard oven, an electric grill, toaster, coffeemaker and warming table. Superliner kitchens will be on the lower level of the dining car, while dining passengers will sit on the upper level.

Turbocafes on the French-designed Turboliners also have modern cooking equipment. Coach passengers order over a counter and dine at their seats on fold-down tables. The Turboliners are used primarily in New York State, Amtrak said.

Ronald Humble, an Amtrak reservation agent in Los Angeles, said menus vary with each line, though some standard dishes are available.

Pokes stop Cal cold, 27-0

California High School's running backs must have thought they were running into a brick wall every time they tried to gain yardage against visiting Livermore High School yesterday.

The Pokes held the Grizzlies to six yards rushing and needless, to say, walked away with an impressive 27-0 victory to open the East Bay Athletic League football season.

Livermore has now allowed just six points scored against it in the last three games.

California was hurt by the absence of quarterback Tom Woodmansee and running back Craig Miller but that doesn't take anything away from the Cowboys' victory.

The Livermore offense did its own part, pilling up 398 yards. 322 of it came on the ground as eight 'Poke running backs carried the ball in the contest.

It took the Cowboys awhile to warm up, however. They failed to score the first three times they had the ball but made the fourth time a charm.

Livermore drove 61 yards in just six plays to hit the scoreboard with 8:09 left in the half. Pete Martinez, who led the rushers with 80 yards in 10 carries, sweeped end for the final six yards and the score.

The 'Pokes came back just before the half ended.

After a short California punt to the Cowboy 47 Livermore drove 53 yards in seven plays with quarterback Naish Piazza running the offense in a superb manner. He hit wide receiver Ron Nicolos for 23 yards to put the ball on the Grizzly 27. After Piazza hit the line for one yard and Frank Brown ran for 11 yards to the California 15 Piazza hit John Farfan on a pass for 11 yards. A fiv An offside penalty put the 'Pokes back to the six but Piazza then hit Lester Jacobs on the left side of the end zone for the second touchdown.

Livermore totally dominated the second half.

After another short Grizzly punt the Cowboys bolted 55 yards in eight plays. Piazza ran for 44 yards in three plays to highlight the drive, the score coming on an eight-yard run on a keeper.

It was a fitting tribute to the Livermore defense that it picked up the last score of the game.

After stopping a Livermore drive at the California four the Grizzlies promptly fumbled a pitch-out and John Farfan pounced on the ball in the end zone for the touchdown.

California never reached the Cowboy 40 in the contest. The 'Pokes only punted once while the Livermore defense forced California to punt the ball away seven times.

Piazza gained 65 yards in eight carries and completed four off 11 passes for 76 yards, all of the competitions coming in the clutch.

Converted-fullback Ken Major handled the Grizzly quarterback duties and did a respectable job, completing 11 of 21 passes for 102 yards and two interceptions.

He also was the leading California rusher with nine yards in 10 carries.

Cowboy head coach Ron Berg was reserved in victory.

"We started out slow, we just made too many mistakes in the first half," he said. "We hurt ourselves with some clipping penalties in the first half but in the second half our line started blocking a lot better.

Livermore will host San Ramon next week. The Wolves are generally considered to be the Cowboys' biggest challenger for the league title.

Record, lead for Archer

NAPA — George Archer, unrattled by a three-putt bogey on the first hole, came back with 10 birdies and tied the course record with a 63 Saturday which gave him a four-stroke lead after three rounds of Napa's $200,000 pro golf tournament.

The tall Californian's nine - under - par round gave him a 54-hole total of 201, a whopping 15 strokes under par. He started the day, his 38th birthday, two strokes off the lead.

Archer's 63 tied the record for Silverado Country Club's 6,870-yard North course set last year by Johnny Miller, a two-time winner of the event who failed to make the cut in this year's tournament on his home course.

Mac McLendon, co-leader with Grier Jones after 36 holes, was three under par with a 69 Saturday, placing him at 11-under for the tournament and alone in second place.

Benjamin injured, sub leads Cards

STANFORD — Stanford fans saw a new face on the field here yesterday, and watched as he helped the Cards to a 20-10 victory over the University of Oregon.

Actually, the face of second-string quarterback Steve Dils is not new. He has been with the squad four years, two years as a red shirt. But with competition like Mike Cordova and Guy Benjamin, he has spent most of his time on the bench.

But early in the fourth quarter, Benjamin was hit hard, and left the field with a torn ligument in his left knee, and Dils was sent in to preserve the Stanford edge of 13-10.

Dils played cautiously and head Stanford coach Bill Walsh watched with trepidation from the sidelines.

But Dils, who explained that he has been waiting four years to play ball, insured the Stanford victory by engineering a 70-yard drive, culimating in fullback Phil Francis' nine-yard run for the deciding touchdown.

"Steve played a solid game. Everything we asked of him he did well. A back-up quarterback has to be poised, and Steve was that," Walsh said.

Walsh reported that Benjamin will be out for an indefinite period, but very possibly the rest of the season.

Dils ended the day with a perfect three-of-three completions for 48 total yards. Benjamin left the game with an impressive 13 of 26 for 267 yards.

The Stanford offensive unit waisted no time in asserting themselves. After a 70-yard drive in the first three minutes of the game, the Cards settled for a 31-yard field goal Naber. The Stanford defense allowed Oregon's Gary Beck to gain 40 yards on the kickoff return.

Beck, who found holes all over the field, was finally tripped up by Stanford safety Keith Burcham. The Oregon offensive drive was quickly halted as the Cards' defense regained their composure, and forced the Ducks to surrender the ball.

Stanford halfback Darrin Nelson made a fumble on the punt return and the Ducks took the ball on the Stanford 28.

The Ducks, insight of a touchdown, scrambled down to the one-yard line where quarterback Jack Henderson fumbled. Stanford defensive back Ray Cardinalli recovered and the Cards began a drive back down the field.

But Benjamin, desperatly threw the ball into the hands of Oregon safety Bruce Jensen. Jensen, on a 27-yard run, brought the ball back to the one-yard line. Henderson carried the ball himself into the endzone and the Ducks led 7-3.

In one of the major plays of the game, following the kickoff, Benjamin completed a short pass to Nelson who darted for a 65-yard gain. The Cards, collecting 81 yards in eight plays, let Benjamin carry the ball one yard to make it 10-7 Stanford.

Darrin Nelson of Stanford has his jersey grabbed by an Oregon defender as he picks his way through the Ducks' line. Stanford went on to defeat Oregon, 20-10, in Palo Alto yesterday afternoon.

Bears roll over hapless Spartans

BERKELEY — A massacre occurred yesterday at U.C.ts Memorial Stadium — there's just no other way to describe it.

Cal's football team scored a touchdown in the first two minutes of the game and never looked back, rolling to a 52-3 victory over outmanned San Jose State.

Cal gained 521 yards in total offense and 32 first downs, compared to the Spartans' 141 yards and 10 first downs. While the Bears' runners, led by Paul Jones, were picking up 232 yards on the ground, a trio of Cal quarterbacks, led by Charlie Young picked apart San Jose's secondary for 289 yards.

"We wanted a big win and we got it," said a happy Young after the game. "This is our best offensive performance of the year."

Young was 12 for 15 for 199 yards, including three touchdown passes, while playing about two-thirds of the game. The junior quarterback's favorite target was tight end George Freitas. Young and Frietas connected five times for 101 yards ll in the first quarter.

"We went to George a lot because the defense gave it to us. They had to be so concerned about stopping the run that it left him open," explained Young.

It was a big day, too, for diminutive placekicker Jim Breech. Breech made all seven of his PAT attempts and added a field goal. In the process he surpassed Rod Garcia's all-time Pac-8 record for points kicking. Breech now has a total of 210 points; Garcia had 205.

"I wasn't even aware of the record until after I'd broken it," said Breech. "It was exciting for me because Garcia was one of my idols."

Breech threw in a plug for his offensive teammates,too, addino, "This was a great boost for Charlie. We all have a tremendous amount of confidence in him and in the entire offense."

The Bears opened up that offense in a hurry. San Jose running back JJ Johnson fumbled on the second play of the game. Cal's Pat Graham pounced on it, and four plays later Paul Jones bulled over the goal line from the three. Breech made the first of his PATs to put Cal on top, 7-0.

Just four minutes later, Young hit Jesse Thompson in the end zone with a pinpoint pass from the nine. Thompson made the catch with a San Jose defender drapped over his back, but managed to hang on.

Then Young hit Freitas three times on a 64-yard touchdown drive, including an 11-yard pass for the score. When the first quarter ended shortly thereafter, Cal had a 21-0 lead and Young already had 123 yards passing.

The Bears picked up another 21 points in the second quarter, starting with a Young to Oliver Hillmon touchdown pass of eight yards on the first play of the period. Breech's conversion after that score gave him the new Pac-8 record.

San Jose's third fumble of the game set up Cal's next score. a one-yard touchdown plunge by Jones, who led all Bear rushers with 78 yards on 21 carries.

Cal reserve quarterback Eric Anderson, who had experienced difficulty moving the offense on three previous series. broke out of a passing slump in impressive fashion. Anderson hit split end Joe Rose for 16 yards, and then threw a perfect strike to freshman speedster Floyd Eddings for 43 yards.

Anderson then Found Freitas all alone in the left corner of the end zone to close out Cal's first-half blitz.

In the 3rd quarter, Cal went over the half-century mark on an 80-yard, 14-play drive, climaxed by another Jones TD from one yard out.

It's official — Yankees finally clinch Eastern Division pennant

The New York Yankees clinched the American League East pennant Saturday with help from the Baltimore Orioles.

While the Yankees' game in New York with the Detroit Tigers was being held up by rain, the Orioles defeated Boston 8-7, killing the Red Sox' last hope of catching the Yankees, the East leaders.

The Yankees had clinched a tie for the East title with a victory against Cleveland last Wednesday night, but had been unable to win since. Saturday, they eventually lost their third straight, 10-7 to the Tigers.

The Orioles outslugged the Red Sox with a barrage of six homers, including two by rookie Eddie Murray.

Dave Skaggs, Lee May, Rich Dauer and Doug DeCinces also homered for the Orioles, who were eliminated from the AL East race by the Red Sox Friday night.

Boston's Rick Wise, making his first start since Aug. 19, was bombed for four runs on three homers in three innings as the Orioles rallied from a 4-1 deficit. The victory went to Mike Flanagan, 15-10. Jim Willoughby, 6-2, took the loss.

Ben Oglivie drove in four runs and Jason Thompson had four hits, including a triple and a home run, pacing Detroit's victory. Aurelio Rodriguez added two clutch doubles for the Tigers.

In other American League games, Rod Carew collected three hits and Larry Hisle hit his 28th home run , leading the Minnesota Twins to a 9-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Dave Collins had a run-scoring double and Dan Meyer drove in two runs with a basesloaded single, highlighting a three-run seventh inning and leading the Seattle Mariners to a 5-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a doubleheader. Lamar Johnson smacked a two-run homer and Ken Kravec won his 11th game as the White Sox took the second game 6-1.

Rain washed out a scheduled doubleheader between Toronto and Cleveland.

In the National League, rookie Ray Knight, a late-inning substitute for Pete Rose, slammed a seventh-inning, bases-loaded single to drive in two runs and ignite a Cincinnati rally as the Reds scored a 6-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Bruce Boisclair drove in three runs with a single and double, sparking the New York Mets to an 8-4 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of a doubleheader. The Cardinals took the second game 4-2 as Tom Underwood and Al Hrabosky combined on a sixhitter.

Reggie Smith slugged two home runs and drove in three runs, backing the five-hit pitching of three Los Angeles pitchers as the Dodgers defeated the Houston Astros 4-3. Rob Andrews, Darrell Evans and Marc Hill each knocked in three runs as the San Francisco Giants overwhelmed the San Diego Padres 13-4.

In National League night action, Montreal was at Philadelphia. In the American League, it was Oakland at Texas and California at Kansas City.

Bockover boots two FG's, Glads rout Vikings, 29-14

SANTA CLARA — When the final gun sounded on the West Valley - Chabot College football game at Santa Clara Univeristy's Buck Shaw Stadium Friday night, the only disappointed Gladiator on the field was Charlie Bockover.

But it wasn't an angered disappointment by any means, as the Glads were wrapping up an explosive 29-14 win over the Vikings for their first win in four tries this season.

It also marked the sixth straight win without a loss for Chabot against the San Jose school, and it evened their Golden Gate Conference record at 1-1.

And what about Bockover? Well, the mighty-mite Livermore kicking Highgraduate was hoping for a chance at a third field goal, having hit on tries of 4 and 37 yards earlier in the 5 game.

Bockover would have had three field goals, but Chabot unwisely accepted a penalty for a first down in the first quarter after Bockover split the uprights from 41 yards.

The Gladiators proceeded to use up four downs with no success, and Charlie's 37-yard attempt missed wide left. It was his only miss of the night, adding three extra point attempts to his total.

"He's a real competitor," Chabot coach Keith Calkins said of Bockover after the game. "The whole football team was behind him. We're really happy with our football team tonight."

After the first half, though, those words of Calkins would have seemed contrived. West Valley took a 7-3 lead into the locker room after driving 62 yards in 18 seconds, scoring on a five-yard pass from quarterback Bill Tantillo to split end Rocky Pena with just 25 seconds to go in the half. Pena had caught two earlier passes from Tantillo of 42 and 15 yards.

Bockover's first field goal, a 45-yarder, came just prior to the quick scoring drive, occuring with 1:26 to go in the half. It cleared the goalposts by almost ten yards.

Earlier in the half, the Glads muffed a pair of scoring opportunities when reserve quarterback Tom McGinty's tosses were dropped in the end zone.

McGinty had a strong game for Chabot, completing a flurry of short-to-medium range passes and rallying the Glads to their third-quarter explosion of 24 points.

The first score came with 10:47 showing on the clock, as Dale Monroe scooted off tackle on a fourth-down play and rambled nine yards for a touchdown.

Less than three minutes later, Keith Fyfe ran a double-reverse 37 yards down to the one-yard line, where Monroe packed the needed yard for a second TD. The final score came on a third-effort run by Steve Martinez, running 19 yards through a sea of West Valley linemen.

The Glads added a safety for good measure when Richard Buitagro sacked third-string Viking QB Randy Scacutto in the end two minutes from game's end.

West Valley managed a late score after a pass interference call. Star tailback Duran Evans, pretty much stifled by the Chabot defense on the evening, slammed into the end zone from the one.

"We've got a good team, there's no question about it," a happy Calkins said. "When you lose three in a row, there's some seeds of thoughts planted. There was a lot of uncertainty in people's minds. We have a winning tradition, but these players have never had a winning tradition. The win was just really good for our team."

DANVILLE — After rolling up some impressive scores in pre-league games, San Ramon's football team showed it could play some defense, too, as the Wolves easily defeated visiting Foothill, 31-10, Friday night.

San Ramon held Foothill to only three first downs, all in the first half. The Falcons were held to 110 yards in total offense, and netted only 21 yards in the entire second half.

Yet a good portion of San Ramon coach Lyle Setencich's post-game comments concerned another game — the upcoming clash with defending East Bay Athletic League champion Livermore this week.

"What can you say about Livermore?" said Setencich. "They have a good tradition, 50 kids, size, and depth. We're small and have a lot fewer players."

changed, though Setencich's worried tone as he looked at the post-game celebration around him. "But I think we have a very good chance to win," he added with a smile.

While the defense was bottling up the Falcons, San Ramon's offense might easily have scored more than 40 points, were it not for two fumbles and several penalties which killed promising drives. The Wolves finished with 13 first downs and 341 yards of total offense, including 226 yards rushing.

It didn't take long for the Wolves to get on the scoreboard. Dan Chevey took the opening kickoff 56 yards, all the way to Foothill's 32-yard line, to give San Ramon great field position.

From there it took the Wolves only five plays to hit paydirt. Quarterback Guy Houston scored on a 15-yard bootleg run around the right end. Rowdy Corrick kicked the extra point, and San Ramon led, 7-0, with only three minutes gone.

The Wolves scored again with 3:17 left in the half when fullback Randy Huddleston plunged over the goal line on a one-yard run. Huddleston's score climaxed a 12-play, 65-yard drive, which featured another long bootleg run by Houston, this one of 33 yards.

Foothill scored with 16 seconds left in the half when Houston, scrambling around in his own end zone under heavy pressure, intentionally grounded the ball, giving the Falcons a safety.

San Ramon again struck quickly in the second half. Chevey scooped up a Foothill fumble and sped 42 yards for a touchdown. Houston picked up the two-point conversion by running around left end.

Houston's passing highlighted a 16-play, 72-yard drive which resulted in another San Ramon score. The senior quarterback connected with four different receivers for a total of 47 yards to set up Corrick's 35-yard field goal.

Two minutes later, Houston led the Wolves to yet another score. On the first play after Paul Fix blocked a Foothill punt, Houston passed to Mike Campbell, who made a diving comeback catch for a touchdown. The third period ended shortly thereafter, and the Wolves had built themselves a 31-2 lead.

The Falcons finally scored a touchdown with 10:14 left in the game, but again it was the defense, not the offense, that was responsible for Foothill's points.

Mike Kottinger recovered a San Ramon fumble on the 25 and ran it into the end zone.

Houston was responsible for much of the Wolves' offensive showing. He picked up 64 yards on only eight carries and passed for 95 yards.

Huddleston also ran well, picking up 46 yards on eight carries.

Greg Costello was Foothill's most consistent offensive player, picking up 36 yards in seven tries, many of them up the middle.

Adams, flags ruin Dublin opener, 14-7

Penalties and a clever quarterback named Bart Adams proved to be the undoing of Dublin High School's football team as the Gaels fell to visiting Monte Vista 14-7 Friday night in an East Bay Athletic League opener.

The Gaels were hit for 11 penalties and 125 yards, most of them coming in the second half.

Dublin's running game, which was effective in the first two quarters, never got going in the second half.

"You can't establish a running game when you being penalized all the time," moaned an unhappy Dublin coach Wayne Re as he left the field after the contest. "But you've got to give Monte Vista credit. They came to play and they did very well."

Adams was the primary reason for Monte Vista's success. The senior and team captain ran for 51 yards on 14 carries, and connected of five of seven passes for 70 yards. He threw a 40-yard pass to Brad Ingram in the second quarter to put the Mustangs on the scoreboard for the first time. He then scored the winning touchdown on a two-yard plunge with 15 seconds left in the third quarter.

Dublin started off the game as if it were going to blow Monte Vista off the field. The Gaels took the opening kickoff and marched 56 yards in 12 plays, all on runs by junior tailback Lynn Beamon and fullback Dennis King.

However, a 15-yard holding penalty set the Gaels back to Monte Vista's 31 and the Mustangs took over.

But it only took two plays for the Gaels to regain the ball. The Mustangs fumbled a snap and the Gaels recovered.

On the next play, quarterback Mike Hardy hit Dan Pearson at the one and senior split end bulled over for the score.

Charlie Yamada kicked the extra point and the Gaels seemed in command with a 7-0 lead.

A penalty set up Adams' touchdown pass to Ingram late in the second period. After the Gaels punted to the MV 45 a 15-yard penalty moved the ball to the Dublin 40. From there Adams found Ingram open in the end zone.

Another penalty in the third period aided the Mustangs' winning touchdown.

Dublin was forced to kick from its 31 and Monte Vista had good field position at the midfield stripe.

Adams then danced his way for 28 yards to the Dublin 22. Running back Phil Bevis then plowed 20 yards around end to the two. From there Adams punched in the winning TD.

On the PAT attempt Adams faked a kick and fired a pass to John Pasby for the final points of the contest.

Dublin had one last chance with a minute left in the contest. A holding penalty moved the ball to the Monte Vista 47 but Hardy could only gain three yards under a heavy rush. He threw an incomplete pass and on the next play Steve Wright intercepted his long desperation pass to end the Gaels' hopes.

Beamon led the losers running attack with 38 yards in nine carries. King added 35 in 10 carries and Jon Batchelor, just recovered from an injury, picked up 10 in three carries.

Hardy hit six of 10 passes for 86 yards and was intercepted twice. Pearson snagged four receptions for 73 yards.

The Gaels had better luck in the junior varsity game, taking a decisive 34-6 decision.

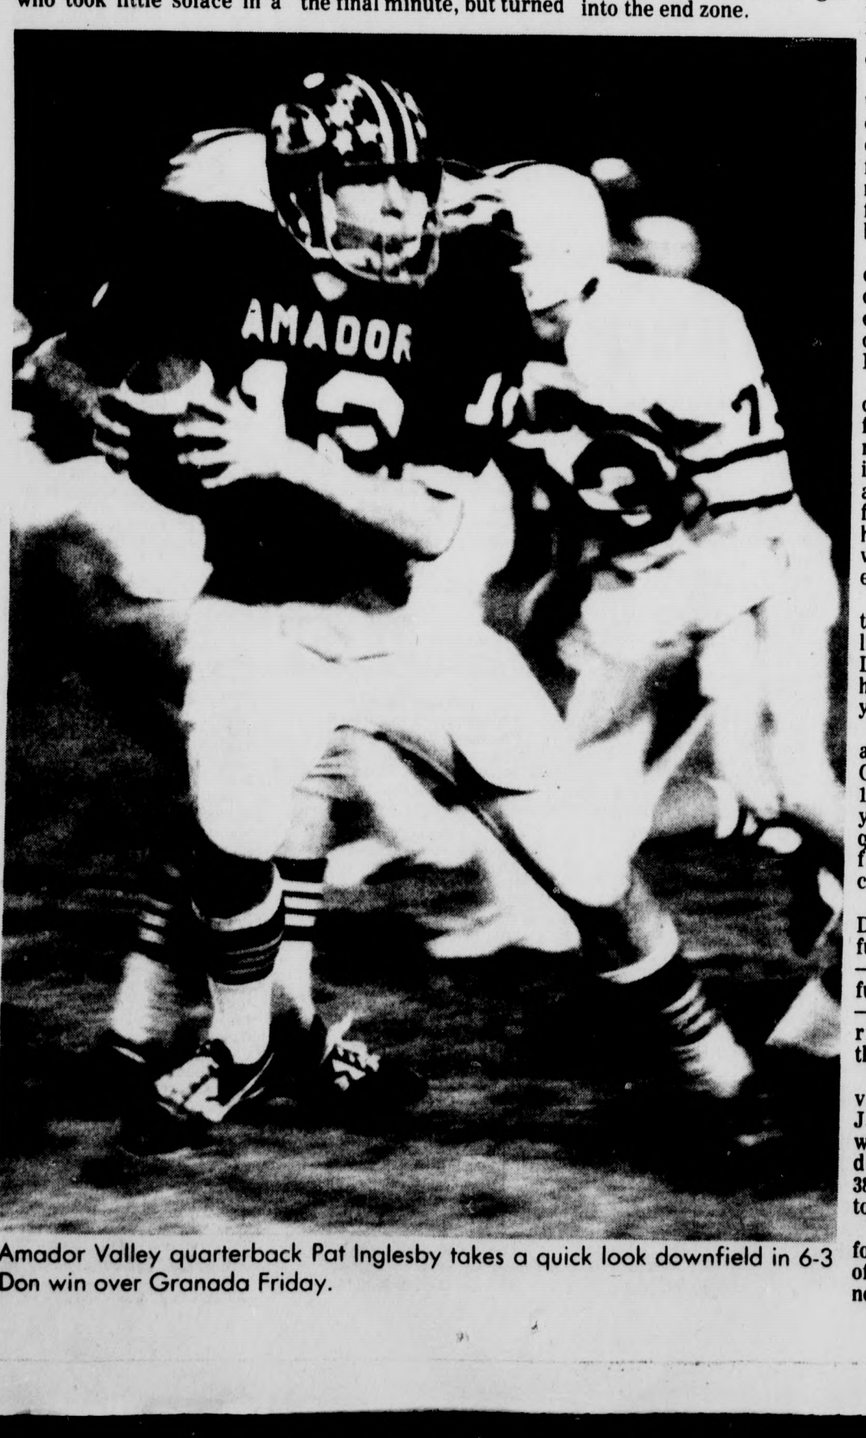
'Poor' Matadors still charitable, 6-3

Don Couch wasn't mincing words after his Granada Matadors had beeen beaten by host Amador Valley High School, 6-3, Friday night at Patterson Field in Pleasanton.

"I've told people we're a very poor football team — and it's true," said Couch, who took little solace in a massive statistical edge the Mats held over the Dons. "We didn't get beat, we beat ourselves."

The Matadors had led, 3-0, most of the game, but yielded a fourth quarter touchdown to lose it. Granada blew a golden opportunity to salvage the game in the final minute, but turned the ball over for the fourth time.

The Mats outgained a sluggish Amador offense, 186-101, piled up 13 first downs to the Dons meager total of five and the ball for 24 more plays. Three times they mounted extended drives, but could not get into the end zone.



Amador Valley quarterback Pat Inglesby takes a quick look downfield in 6-3 Don win over Granada Friday.

"What good is a drive if you can't get in the end zone?" Couch asked rhetorically. For one thing, wear out opposing defenses.

Amador head coach Duffy Dufour lauded the Don defense, saying, "They were out there way too long, normally if you contain the other team, you expect to score."

Dufour placed much of the blame on himself. In compiling a 25-6-1 career coaching record at Hanford, Dufour says, "I've never coached a team before that couldn't move the ball on the ground."

Last night, Amador could gain only 45 yards overland and a disappointed Dufour, who coaches the offense, said, "I feel like I'm not doing my job."

Part of the Don s' difficulties may have stemmed from a shift out of the I-formation Amador had used in its three prior games. At any rate, Mike Hoff, whose four carries in the second half added up to 14 yards, was the Dons leading rusher.

The contest started with the underdog Mats playing like the East Bay Athletic League champions they have been the past two years.

Taking over at its own 21 after an Amador punt, Granada moved 74 yards in 11 plays to the Don five yard line, only to have quarterback Steve Robison fumble the ball into a crowd of five purple shirts.

Incredibly, Steve D'Ambra, who led a powerful Granada running attack — in fact, WAS the powerful Granada running attack — with 113 yards on 25 carries, somehow recovered the ball.

Granada was able to salvage three points as Robert Jamieson, listed during the week as doubtful for Friday's game, kicked a 38-yard field goal with 2:14 to play in the first quarter.

During the third and fourth quarters, a seizure of turnovers set in that is not likely to be equaled in the near future.

First, Amador's Matt Sweeney picked off an errant Robison pass. But, half a dozen plays later, Kevin Ching fumbled and Granada's Mike Nalty recovered.

That gave the Mats the ball at their own nine, stopped one drive and set up the game-winning thrust when, three plays later, Steve Robison fumbled and Hoff fell on the ball.

Though they recovered the ball just 14 yards from the end zone, the Dons took a circuitous six-plays to get there. Quarterback Pat Inglesby lost nine yards on back-to-back rushes and Amador was faced with a third and 19 on the Mat 23.

Inglesby pitched out to halfback Rob Flores, who immediately gunned a pass for Gregg Danska just inside the left flag at the goal line. Whether Danska could have caught the ball was rendered academic when Darryl Darden commited pass interference, giving Amador a first down at the 11.

Ching picked up two yards through the left side of the line and Inglesby, forced out of the pocket, raced six yards up the right sideline to the three, from whence Hoff followed Ken Whitaker and Paul McCleary blocks into the end zone for the winning touchdown.

There was 6:44 still to play, however, and Granada moved 61 yards yards in 17 plays after the Don kickoff, only to be stifled when D'Ambra, the best Granada had to offer this night, couldn't handle a Robison pitch-out.

With :27 to play, the outcome was no longer in doubt.

Santa Rosa also nipped Tri-Valley, 4-3, scoring the winning goal with ten seconds to go with the locals short two players with penalties.

John Creson, David Perona and Kevin Medeiros scored for the losers, while Bobby Shuttleworth and Perona added assists.

In Peewee "AA" play, Berkeley zapped Tri-Valley, 7-4, despite Keith Medeiros' hat trick. Brad Smith added a goal and Mike Merrick had three assists. Ian Tooze had an assist.

Dons JV wins 8th in a row

The Amador Valley High School junior varsity football team won its eight straight game to up its season mark to 4-0, beating Granada, 12-7, Friday night at Patterson Field in Pleasanton.

The Don second-liners closed out the 1976 season with four consecutive triumphs. In addition, all but two of the current JV players played on last year's undefeated freshman team that went 7-0 to cop the EBAL title.

Granada took a 7-0 lead in the second stanza when punter Donald Aguiar instead passed to Todd Tanner for the touchdown. John Waldera booted the conversion. Tanner led Granada's offense with 91 yards on 19 packs.

But Amador came back for touchdowns by Scott Smith and, via a pass, Glenn Gunter to Chuck Thole. Smith gained 79 yards rushing while tackle Dave Hughes recovered the key fumble for Amador with 2:50 to play.

Vince Logsdon scored three times to spark the winners. He had a six-yard run and a 59-yard punt return to his credit. He also ran for a two-point conversion.

Marty McGarry had a touchdown and ran for two extra points.

The Raider offensive line opened huge holes for the running backs. Robert Bird, Chris Vinson, Brian Murphy, David Jansen and Chris Pompino were offensive line stars. John Leary was excellent with his punting. Dennis Campbell, Pat Alford, Bill Schott and James Hudson were defensive standouts.

The 49ers topped the Jets 12-6 in another American division game.

Mark Wishum scored twice to sparked the 49ers. He ran 50 yards for the first score and added a two-yard plunge for the second.

Dave Risso had a 65-yard interception return for the sole Jet touchdown.

Jeff Storrs stood out as an excellent receiver and was also a star on defense. Todd Younger was another defensive star.

Ferrolito, Plute and Whittier were defensive stars for the 49ers. They held the losers to no first downs.

Wishum's two-yard touchdown broke a 6-6 in the fourth quarter.

Downsey, Dunham and Cawley were outstanding offensive linemen.

Will blunders never cease?

Apologies from the Times to Chabot College soccer goalie Pete Howard are in order.

In Wednesday's editions, the Times reported that Howard, a Sophomore from Livermore High School, had become part of defensive confusion on the part of the Glads and missed a kick save, both leading to City College of San Francisco goals.

It seems Pete did not play in that particular game. Dave Schneider, as he has most of the season (including five Glad shutouts) started and finished for Chabot.

Sorry, Pete!

Waste treatment may rely on septic tanks

An EPA survey last December of 258 waste water projects showed the cost per household in towns under 50,000 is more than $100 a year in 40 per cent of the communities, more than $200 in 10 per cent of those surveyed, and in a few cases, more than $300.

Then-EPA chief Russell Train ordered regional adminstrators to be more sensitive to the economic problems of smaller cities and look for cheaper alternatives to local waste treatment plants — such as septic tanks. But towns like Ambia as recently as this summer complained the EPA persists in bulldozing them with costly waste treatment projects.

An observer of Massachusetts city affairs who asked not to be named commented recently about the link between good local management and help from the federal government:

"The whole trouble with grantsmanship is that the rich get richer. Those with good management, like Cambridge, Mass., run rings around the others in obtaining grant money. And technical assistance at the state level is abominable," he said.

"The federal agencies need to be more sensitive to rural leaders who do not have the time, often, to do all they should in obtaining grant monies," says Bruce Hendrickson, 30-year old mayor of Ashland, Wis., a small city of under 10,000.

"It's very hard to get the feds to come to the locality. But it's an easy way out to say Big Brother is too far away," he says, pointing out that his eager, under-30 staff has helped garner the town more than $1 million in federal Community Development funds since 1975 to make improvements on Ashland's crumbling, 100-year old wood-framed housing.

But Ashland also demonstrates that townspeople often mistrust new management techniques and the growing influence of Washington. "Most of our staff are outsiders," says Hendrickson. "There was some apprehension over us, and over the federal programs, but now I think we've established some trust."

Rapid sales are accompanying the construction of Broadmore Homes' new waterfront townhome community at Redwood Shores.

Broadmoor Homes at Seabridge

Construction which is continuing at a brisk pace at Seabridge, Broadmoor Seabridge, Homes' new waterfront townhome community at Redwood Shores, is being accompanied by brisk sales, according to Marketing Director Kile Morgan, Jr.

Several of the homes have been sold, and these prior to the completion of models, Morgan noted. Location along with innovative architecture has sparked the greater amount of interest in this neighborhood of luxury residences, he continued.

Expanses of glass, soaring beamed ceilings, skylights and outdoor-view balconies and patios enhance the design of the homes.

Rustic woods highlight both the exteriors and interiors of the two story, two and three bedroom homes. Wood-burning fireplaces with custom masonry detailing grace living rooms.

Other special Broadmoor quality features are sunken living rooms, separate dining rooms and ecclosed two-car garages with automatic door openers.

The largest of the Seabridge townhomes features a library with its own fireplace. Others have kitchens with greenhouse windows and master suites with balconies overlooking the water.

Standard appointments in each home include General Electric built-ins, ceramic tile counter tops, hardwood cabinets, luminous ceilings and convenient breakfast nooks or eating bars.

Indoor utility rooms, tiled entries, wrought iron entry gates with overhead trellises, privacy screening and fully enclosed storage at rear patios are additional assets, Morgan noted.

In addition to the luxury homes and the pleasures of waterfront living, residents of Seabridge also enjoy such private recreational facilities as a tennis court, heated swimming pool and hydro-spa, situated just steps away from home.

All residents automatically become members of the Seabridge Association which maintains common area landscaping and home exteriors.

The Redwood Shores master paln offers amenities and a lifestyle highly desered in Northern California, Morgan commented.

One-third of the area will be interlaced with waterways and parks. Swimming, sailing, bicycling, walking, dining and shopping will also be a part of this unique community.

To visit Seabridge, take the Bayshore Freeway to the Ralston Avenue/Marine World Parkway East exit, then follow the signs to the Seabridge sales office at Redwood Shores. For more information call 595-2363.

Old house gets a new look

Double-hung windows in the dining room were replaced with a sliding door leading to the new redwood deck, five feet above ground level. "The deck incorporates 30 - year - old climbing roses on a trellis," Judy adds. By Kathy Baker

By MAGGIE CRUM

Last fall Times photographer Kathy Baker and I visited Judy Hay's brand-new 30-year-old home in Walnut Creek and took a series of pictures of Judy's acquisition. Truth to tell, we weren't much impressed. But, said Judy, a home furnishings expert and owner of Lifestyle West at 1357 North Main in Walnut Creek, "It was just what I wanted. A small house with only 900 square feet, 30 years old." And of course she could see beauty where we saw a cracked ceiling and an overgrown back yard.

True to her promise, Judy called us this fall and said her job was done. Kathy and I dashed over so that we might complete our job and were astonished at the wonders Judy had effected.

She took up all the carpets and presto, found hardwood floors in mint condition. Throughout the house she used one-inch metal venetian blinds, which create a light and airy atmosphere. Blinds and walls are of the same alabaster shade. Roll-a-Tex mixed with paint hid cracks in the ceiling. A handsome redwood deck jutting out from the dining room gives the feeling of wide open spaces. The refurbished kitchen is a serene oasis in yellow and soft gray.

Dogs attack woman, boy in Danville

Lesher News Bureau

DANVILLE--A Danville woman was treated for dog bites received Tuesday when she tried to rescue a 13-year-old boy from two attacking dogs, sheriff's deputies revealed Friday.

The reports identified the woman as Mrs. L. Daryle Cline, 39, of 180 LOWeell Drive. The boy was identified as Mario Schock, 13, of 339 Castenada Court.

Deputies said the boy was attacked by a small dog and a St. Bernard dog owned by Guy and Patricia Quigley, at 300 Borica Drive, Danville.

Schock said he was walking on the opposite side when the dogs attacked.

Cline tried to rescue him and was attacked by the larger dog, she said.

An unidentified county employe stopped his car and chased the dogs away. Cline was taken to Kaiser Hospital, Walnut Creek, for treatment of her leg wounds, deputies said.

Animal Control Director Charlie Crill said the dogs were under quarantine Friday, but that both had been previously vaccinated for rabies.

He said no citations will be issued for allowing the dogs to be at large because the incident was not witnessed by an Animal Control officer.

Schock, knocked down by the dogs, was unhurt, deputies said.

New sleepwear chemical probe 'inconclusive'

Parents trying to buy sleepwear for their children face a harder job than ever, because of questions raised this week about the possible safety of a chemical used to replace Tris as a flame retardant.

Laboratory tests of the replacement, Fyrol FR-2, have produced conflicting and inconclusive results.

There is no simple home test for either Tris or Fyrol FR-2. Consumers who want to be sure of avoiding these chemicals will have to watch for specific fabrics, ask questions and study labels.

Tris, now suspected of causing cancer in animals, was once used in up to 60 per cent of all children's sleepwear. The Consumer Product Safety Commission — CPSC — banned the sale of garments with Tris in April, but the ban was overturned on technical grounds and an appeal is pending. In August, the commission reported continued sale of Tristreated garments and started going to court, on a case-bycase basis, to get the items off the shelves.

Tris was used in acetates, acetate blends, triacetates and triacetate blends. If you're concerned about Tris, avoid these fabrics in children's sleepwear. Fred Shippee of the American Apparel Manufacturers Association said the industry has stopped using acetates and triacetates, but some may remain on sale.

Tris also was used in some, but not all, polyesters. A spokesman for the product safety commission said garments of polyester blended with some other fiber are less likely to contain Tris than 100 per cent polyesters, but added: "When you're purchasing new garments that are polyester, ask the retailer whether the garment has been chemically treated. If you don't get a satisfactory answer, don't buy."

Shippee said Fyrol FR-2 was used only on 100 per cent polyester knits. He said the association knew of no case where it was used on any woven fabrics.

(Not all 100 per cent polyester knits contain Fyrol, but it is impossible to tell simply which ones are treated with other chemicals. Fabric names must be listed on labels, but names of chemicals used to treat the fabrics are not included.)

Several types of fabrics — modacryllic, matrix and vinyon — are inherently flame retardant and do not require added chemical protection. These fabrics are sold under the brand names Verel, SEF, Kanecaron, Cordelan and Leavil.

Shippee said these fabrics account for only about 20 per cent of the market, however, because they are suitable for knitted garments only and are more expensive than other fabrics. He said the industry also has found, so far, one polyester blend and one nylon that can be made flame retardant without the use of chemicals.

Questions had been raised about Tris as early as 1973 and manufacturers, searching for an alternative, came up with four chemicals, according to Shippee. One of them was Fyrol FR-2.

Murder suspect loses self defense appeal

FRESNO (AP) — A Tulare County murder conviction was upheld by the state's 5th District Court of Appeal Friday.

The appeal by Tommy Ray Tucker had contended Superior Court Judge Leonard M. Ginsburg erred in refusing to give jurors instructions regarding self defense and defense of others in resisting a public offense.

Tucker was sentenced to prison for a second-degree murder conviction in the stabbing death of Elias Soria during a fight at the Frontier Club in Porterville.

The appellate court brief said Tucker grabbed Souza who had hit Tucker's brother Donnie with a bottle. Tucker contended he took a seven-inch stilleto knife from Souza, but Souza began attacking him and Tucker jabbed with the knife to keep Souza away.

Officials reported that Souza died from several stab wounds.

The appellate ruling said Ginsburg properly rejected the requested instruction because it omitted a legal requirement "that homicide is justifiable in self defense only if the assailant is about to commit a forcible and atrocious crime."

The justices noted that Souza already had been disarmed when he was stabbed.

Drug raid nets $2.5 million heroin haul

EARLIMART (AP) — An estimated $2.5 million worth of heroin was confiscated in a drug raid here, authorities reported Friday. Tulare County and federal officers confiscated more than three pounds of heroin plus some firearms and $2,500 in cash.

They arrested Pedro Fernandez, 56, and Audon Fernandez, 30, for investigation of violating federal narcotics laws.

Montenegro Perez, 23, was booked for investigation of possessing heroin for sale, and Canrado Acosta, 34, was booked for investigation of assaulting a peace officer.
